

Sr. Manager-FP&A

Role Overview

Strategic FP&A leader driving enterprise planning, analytics, and GCC capability growth while building strong relationships and influencing global stakeholders to deliver insight-driven business outcomes.

The Sr. Manager – FP&A will lead Financial Planning & Analytics within Medline's Pune Global Capability Center, serving as a strategic finance partner to global (US and international) stakeholders. The role combines enterprise-wide financial planning, performance management, analytics, and reporting excellence with people leadership and GCC capability building.

This position is expected to evolve FP&A India from a strong delivery engine into a scaled, strategic, insight-driven finance capability.

Key Responsibilities

Strategic Financial Planning & Decision Support

- Provide strategic leadership for planning, AOP, and rolling forecasts aligned with enterprise priorities.
- Provide forward-looking insights, scenario analysis, and risk assessment to support business decisions.

Financial Analysis, Reporting & Performance Management

- Own enterprise monthly management reporting and variance analysis with meaningful business insights.
- Track KPIs and financial trends to identify risks and opportunities.

Business Partnership

- Serve as a trusted finance partner to senior leaders, supporting key initiatives and informed trade-offs through data-driven insights.
- Facilitate cross-regional collaboration to promote standardization, knowledge sharing, and service expansion beyond home regions

India GCC Leadership & Global Delivery

- Lead FP&A delivery from Pune GCC and position the team as a high-value global finance partner.
- Transition and expand scope of global FP&A work through standardization and best practices.

Technology, Analytics & Process Excellence

- Strengthen financial modeling, analytics, automation, and FP&A tools to improve efficiency and insight quality.
- Drive continuous improvement and strong data governance.

People Leadership & Capability Development

- Lead, coach, and develop FP&A managers and analysts; build capabilities, talent pipeline and high-performance culture.

Governance & Control

- Ensure accuracy, timeliness, compliance, and adherence to internal controls and ethical standards.

Leadership Expectations

- Operate with a global, enterprise mindset
- Build influence through credibility, insights, and people leadership
- Transition FP&A India GCC from support function to strategic capability engine
- Balance near-term execution excellence with long-term capability building

Required Skills & Competencies

- Exceptional communication and executive presentation skills
- Strong experience in FP&A at an offshore GCC
- Strong finance and accounting fundamentals with business acumen
- Strategic thinking with ability to link business events to financial impact and risk
- Data-driven decision-making, comfort with ambiguity, and problem-solving mindset
- Strong stakeholder management and cross-functional collaboration skills
- Continuous learner with awareness of regulatory, macro, and micro-economic trends

Work Experience

- 15+ years of experience in FP&A / business partnering roles in US or Indian multinational organizations
- Experience working with globally distributed teams and senior stakeholders
- 6+ years of people management experience, leading teams of finance professionals in domain of FP&A

Educational Qualification

- CA / CMA / MBA (preferred: IIMs / ISB / FMS)
